1. General Information

1.1. Programme Title

Minor Programme in Translation and Interpreting 翻译副修

1.2. Academic Unit Involved in the Delivery of the Programme

The Minor Programme is to be offered by the Applied Translation Studies (ATS) Programme and administered under the Division of Humanities and Social Sciences (DHSS)

1.3. Programme Aims, Objectives, and Intended Learning Outcomes

The Minor Programme in Translation and Interpreting aims to develop students' spoken and written bilingual and bicultural communication skills so that they can potentially serve as effective intermediaries between texts and speakers across different languages and cultures. It will empower students to stand out in the job market where both domain-specific knowledge and bilingual communication skills are required. Specifically, the programme objectives are to provide students with:

- (1) Bilingual and bicultural competence through focused and interactive courses in translation and interpreting;
- (2) Practical, analytical and transferable skills that can be applied to diverse professional contexts such as business, law, media, education, science and technology;
- (3) An interdisciplinary perspective through the combination of their major areas of study with professional communication across languages and cultures.

Table 1 outlines the Programme Intended Learning Outcomes (PILOs) of the Minor Programme in Translation and Interpreting whereas Table 2 delineates the alignment of the PILOs with the Graduate Attributes (GAs) of UIC.

Table 1: Programme Intended Learning Outcomes (PILOs)

Upon successful completion of the Minor Programme, students should be able to:
PILO 1	Communicate and translate effectively in Chinese and English and in written and verbal forms;
PILO 2	Compare and contrast differences in cultural contexts in order to build a strong sense of bicultural sensitivity;
PILO 3	Develop the necessary interpersonal skills and professional competence for a career in translation and/or interpreting as well as in language and communication fields.

1.4. Medium of Instruction

The medium of instruction for the Minor Programme in Translation and Interpreting is English while teaching materials will be in both Chinese and English for C-E and E-C translation/interpreting.

1.5. Target Students

The target students of the Programme are students of all undergraduate majors of UIC other than ATS.

1.6. Year of Implementation

The Minor Programme in Translation and Interpreting has been offered since the Academic Year of 2020-21.

2. Programme Requirements and Structure
